SAYS BOYS CLUB IS PROPER THING

Dr. L. W. Snyder Advises Against
Y. M. C. A. Because it Wouldn't be Supported.

HOPES SOMETHING WILL COME

Says he Will be on Ground Floor and
Help and Sentiment Along This Line Crystallizes.

Before departing today for a week's stay at points in Missouri, Dr. Leonard W. Snyder, known throughout the United States as the Boys' Minister, commented briefly on the agitation that is going forward here concerning an institution of some sort—a Y. M. C. A., Boys' Club, community center building, or something of the kind—that will form a place of recreation and amusement for boys and young men.

He advised strongly against a Y. M. C. A. He called attention to the fact that Y. M. C. A. buildings in cities the size of Rushville were never self-supporting and could not obtain the support of the national organization. His belief is that a Boys' Club can be made a permanent institution in Rushville, one that will in time be self-supporting and will be the pride of the community.

"A Y. M. C. A. is not the proper thing for Rushville," said Dr. Snyder. "It would be a dead weight because experience has taught that they will not succeed in cities of this size. But there is no reason why Rushville should not have a Boys' Club. All that is lacking, so far as I find, is the money and the proper interest and spirit.

"There is plenty of money in the community to build a Boys' Club building. In time it could be made self-supporting, after the club was built, a manager who was capable could make it an unqualified success. There might be some business rooms on the ground floor and some rooms for boys who have no home to live in.

"And why shouldn't Rushville people who have the money, do this for the boys of Rushville? What is the value in money if you can not spend it? Where is the pleasure in possession of money if you forego the pleasure of spending it?

"We've all seen boys who have made miserable failures of their lives, largely because they have lacked opportunities. They have not been furnished with the right sort of ideals. If there are boys of this class in Rushville—and there most certainly are—the people of Rushville are to blame for the condition. They have the means to correct a condition that is keeping boys down and they do not use it to better them."

Dr. Snyder said he hoped that the sentiment which has made itself felt here would crystallize into something tangible and that some effort could be made to get a Boys' Club.

"You may count on me," he said enthusiastically, in closing. "I will be on the ground floor and do all I can if something of the kind is started."

Dr. Snyder is a man of wide experience gained through philanthropic work and travel in all parts of the United States. He is a native of Holland and a graduate of several universities. Dr. Snyder has devoted himself to boys work for years and has accomplished great things, according to testimonials which he has from boys living in many parts of the country.

The Fairview high school play "Engaged by Wednesday" will be produced at Falmouth Saturday night.

BODY IS FOUND IN CANAL

Frank Keenan Missing Four Weeks
From Connersville Home.

(By United Press.)
Connersville, Ind., April 14.—The dead body of Frank Keenan, who has been missing four weeks, was found in the canal here today. His death was believed to be accidental because no cause for suicide can be found. Keenan was unmarried. Considerable concern has been expressed during his absence because it had been impossible to trace him after he was last seen alive. He was a wood carver.

HOME IS SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

Roof of Mrs. Olive Haywood Ignites
From Spark From Old Grate
When Fire is Started.

COMPANY THROWS NO WATER

The roof at the home of Mrs. Olive Haywood, 813 North Sexton street, was slightly damaged by fire this morning at eleven o'clock. The roof is believed to have caught on fire from a spark as there was no indications that the flue was defective. A fire was built in an old grate this morning the first time this spring and it is almost certain that a spark ignited the shingles. The fire department was called and succeeded in putting out the blaze without throwing any water. The large chemical was used very successfully. The damage to the roof was estimated at about $15. Most of the household furniture was removed from the house before the fire department arrived. The residence is owned by John Cooning and the damage is fully insured.

ELECTED HEAD OF CARTHAGE SCHOOLS

Nathan W. Coil, Science Instructor
in Rushville High School, is Picked by Board.

A SUPERINTENDENT BEFORE

Nathan W. Coil, science instructor in the Rushville high school, has been elected superintendent of the Carthage public schools for the school year 1915-1916, it was announced today. Professor Coil has been teaching physics, general science and botany in the local high school this year. He has given general satisfaction with his work.

Mr. Coil is a graduate of Wabash College, at Crawfordsville, receiving his A. B. there. He later took two years of science in Cornell university. Since leaving Cornell Mr. Coil has been superintendent of schools in a number of small places in Indiana. He left the superintendency at Monon, Indiana, last year and came here to get some practical experience in high school teaching work. He now desires to return to supervising work. School officials expressed sorrow at his leaving and wish him success in his new field.

Charley Manville, Big Four conductor of the 8:03 southbound train and 5:32 north bound, is taking his vacation in Alabama. His vacancy is being filled by Earl Davis, who formerly lived in this city.

LIBRARY GETS 15 NEW VOLUMES

Knights of Columbus Give Catholic
Encyclopedia at Regular Monthly Meeting.

THE REV. M. W. LYONS SPEAKS

E. B. Thomas Responds to Presentation Speech on Behalf of Board
—Librarian's Report.

The usual routine of the monthly library board meeting yesterday afternoon was broken by the presentation of the Rushville council of Knights of Columbus of a magnificent set of the Catholic encyclopedia. The presentation speech was made by the Rev. M. W. Lyons. The encyclopedia, which consists of fifteen large volumes besides an index volume, is viewed as one of the biggest achievements of recent times in book-making.

The usual monthly report of the librarian was heard. It showed that 1,786 books were loaned from the Rushville library during the month of March which is a daily average of sixty-eight books. Ninety-seven new volumes were placed on the shelves during the month making a total of 2,976 in the library. Enough more have been purchased to make the number above the three thousand mark. Several new books, consisting of fiction and children's works, were purchased during March.

There are sixteen million words in the volumes of the Catholic encyclopedia, treating thirty thousand subjects. There are more than three thousand illustrations, including many exquisite reproductions of the "Old Masters," and sixty-six maps in the encyclopedia. Every article is original, it is stated, and there are sixteen hundred contributors representing forty-three countries.

In presenting the volumes the Rev. Mr. Lyons explained that the encyclopedia is to be found on the shelves of every important library, but understanding that the funds at the disposal of the library here are limited, the local members of the Knights of Columbus took pleasure in donating the set.

Their purpose was to place before the public authoritative information on the entire cycle of Catholic interests, action and doctrine. It is not exclusively a church encyclopedia, since its chronicle of the achievements of Catholic artists, scientists and educators touches upon the story of the whole intellectual and artistic development of mankind, he declared.

Attention was called to the fact that special pride is taken in the spirit of fairness which runs through all the pages. The denominational press has been unanimous in praising this saving feature.

Concluding his remarks Father Lyons expressed the hope that free use of the encyclopedia would be made by students of history; by those who are interested in the wide range of religious thought and by all who appreciate accurate scholarship and reverence truth for truths sake.

Responding for the board, E. B. Thomas assured the committee that the generosity of the Knights of Columbus was deeply appreciated; that the interest shown in the library was highly commendable and that he felt certain that the presentation of these volumes and the opportunity thus given for studying the history and doctrines of a great religious organization will clear away many misunderstandings and bring about a high spirit of mutual consideration. Mr. Thomas added that the board would express these sentiments in

LOCAL PEOPLE WATCHING CASE

Rushville Policy Holders in Anchor
Life Insurance Co., Interested
in Suit Filed by State.

RECEIVER HAS BEEN NAMED

Amended Complaint Alleges That
President Has Absconded—
Allegation is Denied.

Local policy holders in the Anchor Insurance Company who have been following the steps taken in the suit filed in the Marion superior court by Richard M. Milburn attorney-general of Indiana, asking that a receiver be appointed on the ground that the company is insolvent, will be interested in the new development of the case. Deputy Attorney-General Omer Jackson has filed an amended complaint setting forth that the president of the company has absconded and is concealing himself and has left the management of the business affairs in the hands of a young woman.

After a hearing in which there were disclosures of intricate manipulations of stocks and securities of large denominations but of little actual value, Judge Rochford, of the superior court, in Indianapolis, yesterday, placed Harry L. Arnold, actuary in the insurance department of the auditor of state's office, in charge of the affairs of the company. The court has taken under advisement the application of the attorney-general, for the appointment of a receiver for the company.

Myron C. Cosler, a paying teller at the Security Trust Company, although practically penniless, said he signed a note for $42,000, payable to the Anchor Life Insurance Company, just to accommodate George H. Craft, secretary of the company.

Restraintment from the company transacting further business is also asked in the suit. The filing of the action is the outgrowth of weeks of investigation of the company's business by the office of the auditor of state, Dale J. Crittenberger, and many rumors have circulated concerning alleged evidence against the company's operations, which the state officers have said they possess and will be brought out in the trial.

A statement of alleged facts in the case, contained in a letter to the attorney general from Mr. Crittenberger, contends that the company's legal reserve to protect policy holders, deposited with the auditor of state, under the provisions of the insurance law, is impaired $43,402.29.

William B. Paul, one of the attorneys for the life insurance company, said the charge as to Thomas W. Wilson, president of the company, having disappeared is not based on fact, as Wilson was in Indianapolis until Monday, when he left for southern Illinois.

A receiver for the International Securities Company—a holding company organized under the law of Maine, of which Thomas W. Wilson and George H. Craft, of the Anchor Life, are president and secretary, respectively—is asked in a suit filed in Judge Rochford's court by William W. Henry and seven other stockholders in the International Securities Company.

The Anchor Life is involved in this suit in that it is alleged that all the International has to show for $500,000 realized from the sale of its stock is approximately $40,000 worth of stock in the Anchor Life Insurance Company.

It is alleged that the International was organized with a capital stock of $500,000, divided into 50,000 shares of $10 each.

SUPERINTENDENTS TO MEET

J. H. Scholl Will Attend Sessions
and Conference at Bloomington.

Superintendent J. H. Scholl will go to Crawfordsville for the meeting tomorrow of the Central Indiana Superintendents' club. The day will be spent visiting the schools and at night a round table discussion will be held. The next day the superintendents will go to Bloomington for a two-days' conference for school superintendents which will be held under the auspices of Indiana university. Dr. L. P. Ayres of the Russell Sage Foundation will talk and Dr. Curtis of Detroit will discuss the measuring of the abilities of school children. This is the second annual conference of the sort.

HELD FOR PASSING FRAUDULENT CHECK

Herbert Hall of Milroy is Arrested
Today on Affidavit Filed in Circuit Court.

MISSING SINCE LAST MONDAY

Herbert Hall, of Milroy, was arrested this afternoon by Sheriff Cavitt on a warrant issued in the circuit court based on an affidavit filed by Meek and Spillman, a Milroy firm, alleging that he passed a fraudulent check. Hall was to be arraigned before Judge Sparks late this afternoon.

The warrant for Hall's arrest had been out since Monday and he evidently was expecting arrest as he left home Monday and did not come back until today. The check Hall is alleged to have issued at the Meek and Spillman store without first having the necessary funds in the bank, was for $3, and was issued last week. Meek and Spillman offered to let him square the account within a certain time, but he refused and then the affidavit was filed.

BOYS WARNED ABOUT THROWING STONES

Fifteen Boys Ranging in Age From Seven to Sixteen Are Lectured
by Mayor Bebout.

PRACTICE IS DANGEROUS

About fifteen boys ranging in age from seven to sixteen years were before Mayor Bebout last night and given a good lecturing about throwing stones. Numerous complaints have been made to the police regarding boys throwing stones at automobiles and despite warnings the practice continued. As a last resort the boys were rounded up and brought before the mayor where they were told what to expect if the practice did not stop. In the northern part of the city several boys have been throwing stones along the paved streets and on the sidewalks. Several persons have been hit and some windows broken. The police and city officials are determined that the throwing must be stopped and arrests will follow if the warning is not heeded.

A seven pound boy was born to the wife of Ralph Pearsey in North Sexton street Sunday. It has been named Charles Alden.

NO BONDS ARE OBTAINED YET

Impression Prevails That all Terre Haute Convicted Men Will Have
to go to Prison

21 SENT TO LEAVENWORTH

Fines of Five Sentenced Reduced by Judge Anderson From $100 to
$1. Sentences Stand

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind. April 14.—District Attorney Frank C. Dailey said today that no appeal bonds had been presented for his approval for the convicted and sentenced Terre Haute politicians being held in the Marion county jail. Since only 21 men were sentenced to Leavenworth prison, a special train will be unnecessary, but a special car will be used to transfer them.

The impression prevailed today that Mayor Donn Roberts, sentenced to serve six years in Leavenworth and to pay a $2,000 fine, would be unable to provide the $60,000 appeal bond and the $12,000 deposit demanded by the surety companies.

Five convicted men have had their fines reduced by Judge A. B. Anderson, it became known today. They are John Masselink, George Sovern, Joe O'Mara, Joe Strouse and Arthur Gillis. Their fines were reduced from $100 to one dollar, but they still must serve one year and a day in Leavenworth.

Councilman Jno L. Cronin and Geo. Ohn of Terre Haute obtained a permit from Marshal Storen today to see Mayor Roberts in jail. They told Storen they were going to ask the mayor to resign.

Mrs. Roberts was making a determined effort today to obtain bond for her husband, but it was unknown with what success. She visited the offices of many attorneys and bonding companies and obtained a permit to see Roberts. One bonding company reported that newspaper publicity had caused several prospective bondsmen to back away.

It was understood that Shea could put up the required deposit and give bond but that he preferred for the present to remain in jail because if he made that deposit it would assist Mayor Roberts to give bond. One deposit of $12,000 would cover the trial cost for all appellants.

Four more of the sentenced and convicted men have informed Judge Anderson that they will not appeal their cases to a higher court and wanted to accept the penalty imposed by the court without more delay. The four who withdrew are Thomas Smith, judge of the City Court of Terre Haute, Edward Driscoll, assistant city engineer of Terre Haute, Joseph O'Mara, superintendent of streets, and Maurice Walsh, secretary of the Democratic county committee.

Judge Anderson allowed Walsh and O'Mara their freedom until next Sunday afternoon under a promise that they would start for Leavenworth from Terre Haute not later than 12:30 o'clock next Sunday. Driscoll and Smith were not so favored, although they informed the court that they did not care to proceed with the appeal.

Smith received permission from Judge Anderson to go to Terre Haute tomorrow morning and return in the evening in company with a deputy United States marshal. He asked the court for that privilege pleading that he had some affairs to look after there and Judge Anderson granted it. With the withdrawal of Driscoll, Smith, Walsh, O'Mara from the appeal yesterday, the total number to announce their withdrawal is brought to eight.

Germans Give English Impression
Their Ammunition is Manufactured Over Here.

REASON NOT ASCERTAINED

One Advanced is That Kaiser's Men
Want's to Show British Blockade is Not Damaging.

Note William G. Shepherd is the first American newspaper man who has been granted the privilege of visiting the British army in the field since Lord Kitchener's army of a million took the field.

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

(Copyrighted 1915 by United Press.) (Copyrighted in Great Britain.)

Headquarters of the British Army, Northern France, April 14.—The Germans are firing shells marked "Made in the United States" against the British. They have been doing so ever since the American military attaches were withdrawn from Germany.

It is understood generally that the American attaches were withdrawn because the Germans were repeatedly calling to their attention the fact that Russians were using American shells. The situation, therefore, became so embarrassing to the attaches with the German army that they found it necessary to leave.

Almost as soon as attaches departed from German British army officers began to note the Germans were using shells apparently of American manufacturers. These bear the mark "R. Stock & Co." There is a sufficiently large collection of these shells at British headquarters to establish the fact that the Germans possess a considerable supply of these supposed American shells. Whether the Germans are using them so as to indicate to the English that their navy is not preventing the shipment of ammunition from the United States to Germany or whether the intention is to create criticism of the United States in England are questions yet unsolved.

There is no doubt that the shipment of ammunition from the United States to Germany ended almost as soon as the war started owing to the activity of the English fleet. The shells the Germans are now using either were sold to Germany before the war or were not made in the United States, but have been falsely labeled.

FIRM IS UNKNOWN.
(By United Press.)

New York, April 14.—At the offices of the Remington Arms & Ammunition Company here it was stated positively this afternoon that there is no American firm of ammunition manufacturers named "R. Stock & Co." the firm name referred to in William G. Shepherd's cable to the United Press. The officials of the Remington company added that they knew of no foreign firms of that name.

VISITING DAY AT 2 SCHOOLS

Teachers of Havens and Jackson
Buildings in Indianapolis.

The teachers of the Jackson and Havens school were given a visiting day for the purpose of studying the work of reading and arithmetic in the Indianapolis schools. Particular attention is also to be given to the inspection of the writing. The teachers will observe methods and the advancement of the pupils at this time of the year and report their observations to the schools at home. They left on an early car this morning and have planned for a full day's work of inspection. The Washington and Graham schools were not dismissed as the work in the Graham school will be changed considerably next year and the opportunity for comparison of progress would not have been so valuable for next year's work.

Attention has called before to the season of the year, when, speaking in terms of the fly, it is the time to "make hay while the sun shines." Flies are scarce now. The familiar buzz is rare. But in their scarcity now lies their danger. They slip up on us. They are with us by the millions before we realize it. We can better realize this thing by reading the journal of a house fly which is issued by the state board of health and is appended:

1. Thursday, Nov. 2, 1914—Went into winter quarters. Barely lived through the long, hard winter.
2. April 20, 1915—Came out of winter quarters and laid my first batch of eggs—120 in number—in a manure heap.
3. April 21, 1915—My first 120 eggs have hatched.
4. April 22, 1915—Larvae have undergone first molt.
5. April 23, 1915—Larvae have undergone second molt.
6. April 26, 1915—Larvae transformed into pupae.
7. May 1, 1915—One hundred and twenty full grown flies, sixty of which are females.
8. May 3, 1915—Laid my second batch—120 eggs—this time in the filth of an uncleaned privy.
9. May 13, 1915—One hundred and twenty flies came from my second batch of eggs. Laid my third batch in a kind neighbor's garbage can.
10. May 20, 1915—The city has offered a prize to the school child who will kill the largest number of flies. The boy at the house where I live is killing flies right and left. And to think—we have all been eating at the same table with him.
11. May 21, 1915—Laid my fourth batch of eggs. Left alone and unhindered, by Sept. 19, 1915, my descendants will number 5,598,720,000,000.

An Ideal Citizen.

There is a gentleman in Rushville, known to us all, who is just about our ideal of a good citizen.

He is making his money here, he is raising and educating his family here, and he expects to live and die here.

When he has any money to spend he first looks carefully over the advertisements in this paper. If he finds what he wants he goes there and gives that merchant the first opportunity.

In everything he buys he gives the home merchant the preference.

He occasionally buys articles from abroad, but they are cases wherein he cannot find that which he seeks in his own community.

He believes in his home town, and because he does believe in it and intends to continue to live in it he grasps every possible means of advancing its interests by keeping his money in circulation at home.

He, to our mind, is the IDEAL CITIZEN.

Would that he were multiplied a thousand fold.

For we need more of him.

Silence is golden—after election.

The defeat of Jack Johnson removes a dark cloud from the pugilistic horizon.

Second Chapter: England is not to become "dry." The glass will only be half filled.

European powers have accorded

Japan a free hand in China. A meal of stuffed turkey is good, but—yum, yum!

The government maintains an army of cats in the Chicago post office. Rats!

Even peace has its advantages? Let's hang onto it.

With the election out of the way the demand for mud will be minimized.

Life will be sweeter if you do most of your courting after marriage.

So many men have been killed in Europe we wonder there are any left to censor the reports.

Evangelist Billy Sunday is to purify Chicago. Probably by that time wireless communication will be in operation with the hereafter, and we will be assured of uncensored reports of his victory.

Having lost the pugilistic belt, Jack Johnson may now retire from beneath his plug hat without provoking international comment.

Ambition is a good thing, but it needs pluck and energy to boost it along.

CAMBRIDGE CITY GETS NEXT MEETING

Whitewater Presbytery, Which Closes at Richmond, Admits Dr. D. Ira Lambert of Rushville.

TWO MEN FROM HERE ATTEND

Cambridge City was selected as the meeting place for the fall session of the Whitewater Presbytery before the spring session closed yesterday in Richmond. The Rev. E. E. Davis, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Richmond, was elected Moderator of the Presbytery to succeed the Rev. Homer M. Campbell, of the Kingston church. The Rev. D. Ira Lambert and Joseph L. Cowing of this city attended the session. Almost the entire membership of thirty delegates was present.

The Rev. Mr. Lambert was admitted to the Presbytery as were Joseph Rae, of Chicago, the Rev. David Moore, of Cincinnati, and the Rev. John L. Hartsook, of Portsmouth, Ohio. Thomas Campbell, of Rising Sun, and Edward W. Lodwig, of Bright, were elected clerks of the Presbytery.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

Goshen, Ind., Apr. 14—Johnnie Wolf is approaching the age of 20 months and is sound and happy. He didn't have a frog in his throat; it was in his stomach.

The youngster began losing weight despite a hearty appetite, and mother had visions of the work. The boy's stomach was photographed via X-ray and a big lump was seen. Doctors operated and brought out a half-pound milk-fed frog in the best of health.

Mrs. Harry Wolf believes Johnnie swallowed a tadpole when they visited Mrs. Gregory's grandmother, in Syracuse. They drank hydrant water there.

Health--How to Preserve It Disease--How to Prevent It

Prepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurty
State Health Commissioner

(Dr. Hurty will answer questions on prevention of disease, hygiene and sanitation. Questions requiring a personal answer cannot be considered. To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS, 36½ West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

It is a paradox but also a simple truth that the life work of the consumption germ begins after its death. This germ is surrounded by a thick waxy skin which protects and insulates it during life. After it is killed in the fight with the cells of the body it has invaded the waxy skin is broken and dissolved and the poisons it carries are liberated. These poisons have an irritating effect on the tissues causing congestion and producing an exudate. These poisons also have necrobiotic powers which means that they can cause the death of a part of any tissue.

The extension of the tuberculosis processes, or we might say the growth of the cavities in the lung, cannot occur unless the poisons from the dead germs prepare the way for the living germs. The cure of consumption therefore, depends upon finding a medicine orantitoxin or serum, which will neutralize the poisons of the tubercle bacilli. Nature always supplies antitoxins, but all too frequently in not sufficient quantities to neutralize the toxins and then the person dies. How to arouse nature to produce antitoxins in sufficient quantities to neutralize the toxins is the problem.

It was thought at one time Koch's tuberculin would do the work, but it is not the general success. Yet, in instances, it will stimulate the body to produce antitoxins in sufficient abundance to stop the progress of the disease. Another method of cure is possible, and it is, in some way or manner, to make the tissues inhospitable to the growth of the consumption bacilli or a watery extract of them. But after all it is not a cure that we want for the rational thing is to practice prevention.

An ounce of prevent is worth not only a pound of cure, but it is worth many pounds. Prevention we have at hand and any one can have it without price, yet there is little interest in the matter. When Friedman announced he had discovered a turtle serum which would cure consumption great excitement prevailed from the United States senate to the hovels of the land. Just why a fake cure should set us going so hard while positively known prevention meets no favor is explained by the fact that man has always stupidly searched after a substitute for righteousness. Of course there is no substitute but man will certainly keep up the search just the same.

Hoosier History In Tabloid

(Prepared by the United Press from records in the state library).

"Indiana was among the first, if not the first, to report herself to be ready to send troops forward to the assistance of the government" when Fort Sumpter was fired on in 1861. This was largely due to the activity of Governor Morton, Indiana ana war governor who went actively at work to obtain volunteers, to maintain the union as soon as President Lincoln's call was received. The first regiment mustered in was called the Sixth. It was ready by April 25, 1861. It was sent at once to Virginia under the command of Colonel Thomas T. Crittenden.

GENERAL FUNSTON OFF TO BROWNSVILLE

Mexican Fighting Threatens Texas Town So Seriously That Army Officer Goes to "Front."

VILLA IS HURLING SHELLS

Washington, April 14.—Mexican fighting threatened Brownsville, Texas so seriously today that General Funston was on his way there from Fort Sam Houston. He notified the war department.

A battle raged all of Tuesday about Matamoros and along the river bank to a point a mile west of Brownsville, Funston reported. General Villa, he said, had two field guns and had dropped 20 shells into Matamoros. Rifle bullets had fallen on the United States side of the border near the Brownsville pumping station.

HAMBURG IS BOMBARDED

If London Statement is True Aviators Were Near Berlin.

(By United Press.)
London, April 13.—French aviators bombarded Hamburg, Germany, setting fire to the barracks, according to an unofficial report received here this afternoon.

If the London report is true the raid is without parallel in the history of the war. From the nearest point within the French lines to Hamburg is a distance of about 375 miles. The aviators might easily have been within striking distance of Berlin itself.

Paid Officials of Association Gather in New Building There For Three Day Session

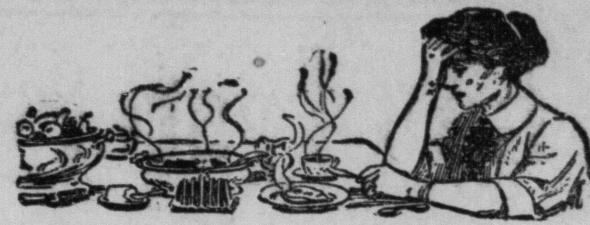

TO DISCUSS SHOP MEETINGS

(By United Press.)
Muncie, Ind., April 14.—Muncie's new Y. M. C. A. building, declared to be a model building of its type, was the gathering place today of the employed officers of the association in Indiana. The meetings will continue three days. On the last night will be held the state association swimming meet in the new pool, which is one of few under glass allowing natural light of day. The conference will discuss shop meetings on a larger scale; how better to reach the wage earning boy and the best method of teaching English to foreigners. E. L. Shey of the Dayton O. firm of Lowe Bros., paint makers will speak.

Can't Eat— Stomach Out Of Order

You are losing strength and vitality. That listless, languid feeling is due to the weak condition of the system.

These are sure signs of a breakdown. Check same quickly and effectively by using Electric Bitters, greatest of all tonics. If you feel worn out and run down, it is time for a tonic. Use Electric Bitters early—do not wait until you are worse. It will tone up your system and restore you to your old time vigor and health.

Keep your stomach in order, increase your appetite, restore your system to a healthy condition by taking Electric Bitters. All Druggists.

Miss J. E. VandeSande, Kirkland, Ill., writes:—"On account of nursing a relative through three months serious illness, I was run down, exhausted, nervous, could hardly eat or sleep. That I did not break down, I am convinced was due to several bottles of Electric Bitters I then took. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to others."

Get a bottle to-day. Helps every time.

PENNANT CHASE STARTED TODAY

Usual Speeches by Mayors and Governors Marked Official Opening of Big Leagues

TIGHTER RACES ASSURED

Trades, Switches and Drafts Have Given Fans Interest Since Close of Last Season

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)

New York, Apr. 14.—They're off today. The chase for the 1915 championship began when the National and American leagues opened their seasons. Seven months of baseball of the "organized" big league variety was served up on the platter to American fandom today. Seasons in both big leagues close Oct. 7. Then comes the worlds series.

Great celebrations today in cities luckily drawing the opening games were held. The usual brass band parades with mayors, governors and baseball magnates tossing out the first ball were scheduled. President Wilson is slated for this duty in Washington today if he can discard cares of state for the call of the horsehide.

Old Doc Weather was the big factor in today's baseball debut. Fans anxiously scanned the clouds this morning. At most cities the click of the turnstiles was begun at noon. All cities reported "standing room only" on advance sales.

Mayor Mitchell promised to toss out the ball today at the Polo ground where the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers had a mammoth crowd awaiting the clang of the gong. "Big Six" Mathewson and Nap Rucker were slated for the mound. McGraw however, was not fully decided and may substitute Tesreau at the eleventh hour.

The world champs Boston Braves had the Phillies as their foes at Beantown, with a capacity crowd promised to welcome the champions. Manager Johnny Evers planned to pitch big Dick Rudolph, but Tyler and James are "in the hole."

The Pirates were at Cincinnati to battle Charley Herzog's Reds and at Chicago, Roger Bresnahan's Cubs opened the West Side park with the Cardinals.

In the American League the Collinsless, bakerless Athletics opened Shibe Park with the Boston Red Sox the latter picked by many fans as the probable American league pennant winners. Walter Johnson at Washington will as usual, pitch the opening game there against Bill Donovan's rejuvenated Yankees with King Cole as the probable pitcher for the latter.

With Eddie Collins in a White Sox uniform at second, the Chicago team will meet Branch Rickey's Browns at St. Louis, and Ee-yah Jennings Tigers hook up at Detroit with the Cleveland cellar champs.

Switches and trades, drafts and purchases since the season closed last fall gave fans renewed interest in the new line ups presented for the first time today. The Athletics showed the best radical change, with Nap Lajoie on second instead of Collins, and Coombs, Bender and Plank absent from the pitchers roll.

All managers made their usual ante-season pennant claims today, with all eight teams in each league certain of the "old rag."

Tighter races are assured, however, in both leagues. The Giants and the Braves look to me like the class of the veteran organization, and the Red Sox and the White Sox in the Americans.

BALL PARK IS BUSY PLACE RIGHT NOW

Work on Grand Stand and Diamond Being Pushed and Everything Will be Ready For Opener.

MUCH FILLING NECESSARY

One of the busy places in the city at present is the Main Street ball park. The work of building the grand stand and getting the diamond in place is being rushed and if the weather stays right the park will be in shape for the opening game of the season one week from Sunday. Contractor Williams has about completed work on the concrete part of the grand stand and states that the rest will not take long. He has made good time so far. The ball park is visited every day by large numbers of fans interested in the game here. The diamond is being filled and graded. Thomas Geraghty is in charge of this work and it is no small job. It was estimated that 200 loads of dirt would be required to make the necessary fill and the dirt is rapidly being placed on the infield.

The directors will meet Friday night at which time bids will be received on the refreshment privileges for the summer.

ADVANCES TEN MILES INTO HUNGARY

Russian Right Wing Now in Position to Strike Railway Leading South Through Lupkow Pass.

ARMIES ARE AGAIN IN CLASH

(By United Press.)

Retrograd, April 14.—The Russian right wing in the Carpathians has advanced ten miles into Hungary in the past few days of fighting and is now in position to strike at the railway leading south through the Lupkow pass stated dispatches to the war office today.

The Slav advance in this region has again been halted pending the outcome of the fierce struggle for the Uzsok pass. To the north the Germans are pressing nearer the Russian positions in Poland particularly north of the Vistula. Fighting is going on north of Bokovina. At nearly every section of the eight-hundred mile battle front the opposing armies are again in clash.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

UP-TO-NOW IN DESIGN

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as rational designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designer, Mr. A. H. Schrichte.

NATURE'S WARNING

Rushville People Must Recognize and Heed it

Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature generally warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—ment.

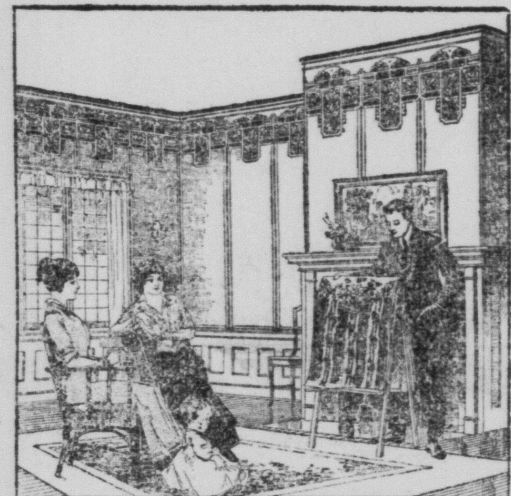

If there are settlements and seditions. Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to fear serious kidney trouble.

It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have done great work in Rushville.

E. L. Hinkle, 641 N. Sexton St., Rushville, says: "In 1900 I was on the verge of Bright's disease. I had sharp pains in my back and was hardly able to walk. I couldn't rest well. A friend who had been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills recommended them and I got a supply. I soon found that they were helping me and I continued using them until cured."

The Girl of the Secret Service

"Moving Picture Story Contest" Prize Story by Florence M. Higgins, dramatized and produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing Co., and Renovelized by H. M. Egbert

Copyright, 1915

"No, sir, I won't be watching Japs this time next month, and wondering whether they're imperial spies or merely houseboys," remarked Francis Gordon of the secret service to his friend as they lingered outside the railway station. "There'll be a clear month's leave coming to Barbara and me and we're going to make our honeymoon worth while. It'll be New York and—say, it seems to me I've seen that fellow's face before."

The two friends looked at the group of Japanese who were clustered upon the station platform. The man's face certainly appeared familiar, but then it was hard to distinguish one Jap from another.

"I wish you luck," said Gordon's friend, gripping his hand. "Miss Ward and you have pulled together for a good while now."

"She's just a girl, but the cleverest member of the secret service," said Gordon, enthusiastically. "And she isn't going to quit just because she's marrying me. Hello! Look there!"

A young, smartly-dressed woman was waiting on the station platform, and one of the Japanese, detaching himself from the group, approached her and began talking in an eager manner. After some hesitation she accompanied him, the man's companions scattering as they advanced upon the platform, and then following the pair.

"There's something that'll bear watching in that," muttered Gordon. "She didn't know the fellow. He's taking her into an auto. Here's where we follow!"

The two chartered a machine, and none too soon, for the woman, now accompanied by three Japanese, had entered a waiting automobile and was being whirled away. The detectives followed, taking care to keep far enough behind to avoid arousing suspicion. After a furious race, involving a number of turns, the automobile drew up at the entrance to a rather ramshackle house upon the edge of the Chinese quarter.

Stepping out of the automobile, the woman and the three men ran up the long flight of steps and disappeared within the entrance.

"Now I wonder why she went there?" suggested Gordon. "Best wait a while, I think."

They waited, but no sound came from within, and at length, being detailed upon a case, they went away with some misgiving.

Entering the chief's office later in the day, Gordon found a consultation in progress. Barbara Ward, his fiancée, a pretty girl who looked like anything but a member of the secret service, came tripping up to him.

"Look at that, Frank!" she exclaimed gleefully, pointing to her hat. "Twenty-nine-fifty at the sale, and they said it came from Paris and was marked down—"

"Now, Miss Ward!" remonstrated the chief impatiently. "Gordon, I've been trying to get you this last half hour. It seems a matter of importance. You know Fred Langford, the inventor? He's dropped out of sight lately, because those Jap spies have been bothering him, trying to get the secret of the new naval gun he's working on. He was expecting his wife this morning from the East. Well, he got this note in place of her, and he ran round here like a crazy man. I had to send Johnson home with him, with orders to keep him there till the matter's settled. You'll see why when you read this."

Gordon took the note from the chief's hand and read:

"Your wife is in our hands. Be at Red Briggs', Chinatown, at eight o'clock tonight, or your wife will pay the penalty. The Black Hand."

"That's the first time I heard of the Black Hand having a rendezvous in Chinatown," said Gordon thoughtfully, as he handed back the note. "It looks like—why, it's some game of Kawakami's!" he shouted, suddenly remembering the face of the Japanese whom he had thought he knew.

"I see his game now," he continued. "He's kidnaped Mrs. Langford and forced her to tell him Langford's address, so that he can get him in his power. The Black Hand and the five thousand are part of the bluff." And he told the chief of the episode of that morning.

"I'll take Miss Ward with me," he said, and the chief agreed.

On the way to the pretty studio bungalow which Barbara occupied her lover outlined his plans.

"I'll meet the Japs with the money while you rescue Mrs. Langford," he said.

"There'll be a good three hours till sundown," he continued. "I've half formed my plan already. Suppose you wait at the studio till I return, and make up as a Jap—a man, Barbara."

It was an hour later when his automobile rolled up. It contained, besides himself, one of his aides and the limp, trussed body of a Japanese man. Quickly the prisoner was carried inside the studio, where Barbara awaited them. Her pretty hair was concealed under a black wig, her eyes squinted oddly beneath the obliquely penciled eyebrows—in short, Barbara Ward looked a very passable Japanese indeed, just such a boy as may be seen anywhere at all hours in the coast cities.

"Here's one of them, Barbara," panted Gordon. "I caught him coming out of the house. Now we'll have the screen up and you can exchange clothes with him."

Five minutes later the trio emerged into the street, leaving the bound and gagged prisoner upon the studio floor. The moment that the door had closed the Japanese deftly began to wriggle out of his bonds.

They whirled away in the machine until they were a block from the house. Barbara descended. "Good luck, dear," whispered Gordon. Then the machine was gone in a cloud of dust, leaving Barbara before the house, uncertain and afraid, in spite of her brave denial.

Hardly had she reached the bottom of the long flight of stairs when the door opened and half a dozen Japanese came out together. It was too late to retreat. Barbara averted her face and lit a cigarette to conceal it. But the men, hastening by, thought her the watchman and hardly glanced at her.

She hurried up the steps. By a miracle of good luck the door was open.

She closed it softly behind her. The interior of the house was dark and gloomy, and the mission must be carried through as hastily as possible, before any of the men returned. Some would probably escape from the trap that Gordon had laid; and the rendezvous was hardly five blocks away. Overcoming her reluctance Barbara hurried up the stairs. At the top of the first flight was an open door, through which the girl could see a room furnished in oriental style, with the inlaid teak tables of a Chinese eating or gaming house. As she hesitated, a wizened Chinaman came slowly toward her. She shrank back into a dark corner. The man peered about him, withdrew and closed the door.

Next instant Barbara was scurrying up to the top story. Some instinct, born of experience, told her that the captive would probably be at the top of the house. There were two doors here, one on either side of a ladder leading up to a trap door in the roof. Barbara hesitated one instant only, then she opened the door to the right. Upon a pile of sacks crouched Mrs. Langford, moaning in fear. As Barbara entered she looked up, sprang to her feet and shrank back against the wall in terror.

Barbara tried to make her understand, but the woman seemed paralyzed with fear. At last she took her by the arms and shook her roughly.

"I'm a woman—don't you understand?" she whispered. "And I have come to save you. Quick!" She pushed the captive before her toward the ladder.

Suddenly she heard the shouts of men below. A Japanese was running up the stairs. Looking down over the banisters Barbara saw the prisoner whom Gordon had brought to the studio. At the same time her eye fell on a long coil of rope.

"This way!" she cried, snatching up the rope and driving the woman before her up the ladder.

As she followed her the Japanese came rushing up. Barbara felt him grasp at her. She struck him in the face with her heel. The man released his grip and tumbled backward. An instant later Barbara stood upon the roof with Mrs. Langford.

The high, isolated roof overlooked a yard, an awful distance below. There were perhaps two minutes of grace. The house seemed filled with tumult. Without a second's delay Barbara knotted the rope about the other woman, fastening it beneath her arms.

"I am going to lower you," she said. "I can't—I can't," stammered the other in terror. "Let me go! I—I—" But Barbara remorselessly drew her to the edge and, yielding in the apathy of fear, Mrs. Langford was slowly lowered. As her body disappeared over the edge the Japanese rushed up the ladder.

Barbara's hand closed about something in the pocket of her coat. It was the man's revolver. She drew it and covered him.

Inch by inch Mrs. Langford descended, hanging over a space which seemed to her a nightmare of horror. And, as she descended, Barbara, upon the roof, covered the Japanese.

He squirmed and dodged, but the girl mechanically wheeled and faced him until suddenly the rope slackened. The prisoner had reached the ground. For a few moments Mrs. Langford remained as though petrified with fear. Then, glancing wildly about her, she saw a door in the wall of the yard and, rushing through, found herself upon the street at the side of the house. In front of her was an automobile. She ran toward it, screaming.

As the last strand was played out Barbara's gaze shifted, and instantly the Japanese was upon her. He snatched the revolver from her hand and dragged her toward the trap door, which, lifted again, disclosed the villainous face of a fellow conspirator.

Helpless as a child in the grasp of her captors, Barbara was carried down the ladder, into the center of the throng. And in her agony she cried one word:

"Gordon!"

She heard the crash of a door below. The secret service men rushed up the stairs. She saw Kawakami whisper to a confederate; they carried her, not into the room with the sacking, but toward a secret chamber in the wall, which she had not perceived. If once they got her within Gordon might seek and search—"Gordon!" she cried again.

An answering shout and her lover came rushing up the flight, followed by his men. Barbara strove to reach him; she heard the crack of revolvers, felt a sharp pang in her breast and fainted.

"Barbara! Barbara! I saved her. And you, too, though it was touch and go at the last moment! The others have got them!"

She opened her eyes. She felt strangely weak and strangely satisfied. She was alone with Francis in his machine and they were whirling through the streets toward her studio.

"Barbara! Look up! You are better now, dear. You are safe, Barbara!" She tried to answer him, but everything seemed unreal and the world was slipping away.

"Barbara! There is blood on your clothes. You are not hurt, Barbara?"

The car stopped outside the studio. In sudden panic he snatched her in his arms and carried her within. He laid her down.

"Barbara! You are wounded!" She heard the panic in his voice. Her eyes opened and she smiled faintly at him. "Francis," she murmured, and he felt her hand grow cold in his.

And as her eyes closed he realized that they had accomplished their last task on earth together.

He knelt beside her, shaking, his head bowed on his arms.

To the Business Men of Rushville

The prosperity of a city is in direct proportion to the local pride. Where local pride runs high, prosperity has a firm foothold. Such a town is a good place to live and do business in.

Paint helps to a remarkable degree in spreading an impression of prosperity throughout a community. It gives a fresh, new, inviting look wherever it is used. Municipal buildings, stores and homes feel its good effects. Growing business is bound to be one of the direct results of a liberal use of paint, not from any magic in the paint, but because of the pride which is stimulated.

Now Here's An Explanation of Why Weather Causes Depressed Spirits

ack of Sunshine is not the Thing That Puts Hoodoo on Temperament and Activities of a Whole Population, take Experts Word For it.

Folks have complained about the "weather" from time immemorial. There has been kind of a hazy impression sifting through from the prehistoric ages that cloudy skies and dreary days had a depressing effect on the human family as a rule.

But here's another example of where Adam and Eve have been handing us a "bum tip" and we have been acting on it through all the ages that have come and gone.

Take it from an expert in the United States public health service, —Senior Surgeon Charles E. Banks —this common belief of ours is a travesty on the truth. The senior surgeon says the lack of sunshine has no more to do with "the blue Mondays" and the other "gray days" of the week than the average negro in the south has to do with an election.

Listen to the plausible explanation the senior surgeon offers in the bulletin entitled "The Barometer and Health," just issued by the health department:

Every person capable of putting two and two together and obtaining the correct answer has been conscious of feeling out of sorts, as the printer would say, when the clouds hung low and the sun was obscured. A week of dull weather sets a whole community on edge and the mental, moral and physical components of man are, at its close, about fit for the scrap heap. Under such atmospheric conditions, when prolonged for a number of days, an Englishman admits that he feels "seedy" and the American confesses that he is feeling "mean," both adjectives relating to a state of mental and bodily dumps.

This situation is generally attributed to the lack of sunshine, for every human being retains the ancient beliefs in the potentiality of the Sun in its relation to his life and its well-being. He knows that it gives light and warmth and brings forth his crops from the fruitful earth, and rightly yields it a respect for its great and generally benign influence over mundane existence. It is true that we feel "bully" in sunny weather, but sunshine is the accompaniment of certain atmospheric conditions not wholly shown by the thermometer or the solarimeter. A few sunless days or hours are not sufficient, however, to put a hoo-doo on the temperament and activities of a whole population; there is another important controlling agency but little understood, even if appreciated, and it exercises a much greater influence than the sun in a given space of time. If the sunlight were absolutely necessary to our up-keep nightwatchmen and laborers on the morning editions would be chronic invalids, and mine workers the most unhealthy people in existence. If sunlight were necessary to animal life all of the night prowlers would cease to exist.

The gaseous envelope of atmospheric air surrounding the earth is the medium in which we have to live and it bears the same relation to the human family as the waters of the globe to the order of fishes. The air and water are essential to the life as much a factor to man as the quality of water to the fish. This normal atmosphere air exerts on our bodies a definite dynamic force or physical pressure of 14.7 pounds on every square inch of our bodies, if we live at or near the sea level, and the higher up we go this atmospheric pressure diminishes until on the heights of the Rockies it is probably two pounds less. The normal pressure at sea level is indicated by the barometer as 30 (inches), and it decreases by an established scale as it ascends these mountain heights. Most persons know that ascents of mountainous peaks, thousands of feet above sea level results in marked physical distress, difficult breathing general depression at the summits, and in extreme cases bleeding at the nose and even from the lungs due to this lessened atmospheric pressure. Just so it happens that when the barometer is "low" for a considerable period, say a drop from 30, the normal gauge, to 29 or below when stormy or dull weather ensues, we get the analogous effect imperceptibly, but in an appreciable degree; for it has happened that a definite measure of atmospheric pressure is released from our bodies and naturally there follows a dislocation of our normal balance. The average adult man sustains on every pleasant day an atmospheric pressure of about 14 tons at sea level, when the barometer reads at 30 and a drop of an inch or more, to 29 and below practically takes off half a ton or more of his load to which he is accustomed. Paradoxically, instead of feeling lighter and freer man feels its disturbing depressing effect on his tissues. He has to become adjusted to this alteration from normal tendency to one of unusual relaxation and while it is slow in its manifestations, as barometric changes are generally gradual, yet the effect in miniature is like going up to a great height on a mountain range. Of course this feeling is neither serious nor fatal, but the relaxed condition in unpleasant weather extending over a number of days makes us feel "out of sorts." While the spell is on we are in the doldrums and the situation is recognized as of enough importance by careful surgeons, who weigh every factor, to defer important operations can be postponed, when these unfavorable barometric conditions prevail and the patient needs every ounce of vitality to pull through.

It is just as well to know these fundamental facts about the influences which affect our physical being so that we can estimate that "tired" or "good-for-nothing" feeling which accompanies a spell of dull weather; to know that it has a definite and transitory cause outside our bodies. It is really an explanation of the ups and downs of our healthy existence. Naturally there is no remedy to be prescribed. As Mark Twain said about the weather —we talk a lot about it but we never do anything to improve it.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PASTOR

The Rev. Thomas M. Wiles, a retired minister in the Christian church, who died at Anderson yesterday of Bright's disease, was a student in the old Fairview academy at Fairview when a young man and is well remembered by the older people of that community. He was a native of Fayette county, being born and reared near Fairview, and attained a common school education there. After being graduated from Fairview, he entered business, but soon forsook that for the ministry.

The Rev. Mr. Wiles was pastor of the Central Christian church at Anderson for five years about twenty years ago. He had charges at churches at Jeffersonville, Greensburg, Martinsville, Franklin, Milton, Franklin and was pastor of a number of smaller churches in rural communities.

He is survived by a widow and three children. The funeral will probably be held at Anderson Thursday, with burial there.

APPLIES TO ONLY THOSE WITH LICENSE

Attorney General Rules Pension Law Does Not Apply to Teachers With Only a Diploma.

WILL AFFECT 2,000 OR MORE

Richard M. Milburn, attorney-general, expresses his belief that many Indiana teachers will not benefit under the teachers' pension act, passed by the 1915 legislature. W. W. Parsons, president of the Indiana State Normal school, at Terre Haute, has received numerous inquiries from graduates of his institution, who, under an old law, are permitted to teach in Indiana without further license than the diploma from the state school as to whether they would be allowed to come under the benefits of the teachers' pension act.

President Parsons replied in each case that these teachers would receive the benefits of the new law, but the attorney-general took issue with him and said, in his opinion, the 1915 law applies only to teachers that have received regular licenses to teach.

Attaches of the office of Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, said they believed the ruling would affect some 2,000 or more teachers throughout Indiana.

vate monopoly to conduct this part of the Postal Service—the highest rates and the poorest service among the nations.

"Second only to the letter in importance is the local telephone call. Perhaps it would be first of its cost permitted its use by all the people. In countries having postal telephones the rate averages about a cent a call, or half the letter rates, while in our cities the rates run from 5 to 10 cents a call. We rank highest but two among 31 nations in the rates paid.

"The flat or unlimited rate, in Christiana, Norway, is $21.44 a year as against Seattle, about the same population, $90 a year; Berlin, $43.20, as against Manhattan $205; London is $82.79, as against San Francisco, $180. It seems a duty to say that these telegraph and telephone rates are the scandal of public service rates the world over, and only to be compared with the express rates before the advent of the parcel post."

IS FULL OF DOPE ON POSTOFFICE

Representative Lewis of Maryland
Can Give All Kinds of Figures
on This Department

KIND OF HOBBY WITH HIM
Has Pet Idea of Postalization of the Telegraph and Telephone Predicting it Will Come

BY BURTON K STANDISH

Washington Apr. 14.—Whenever any member of the House of Representatives wishes to know about postal affairs, wishes to bolster up an impending speech with few facts, and hasn't time to get in touch with the Post Office Department, he has always the alternative of asking Rep. David J. Lewis of Maryland. Lewis is a simple and sure remedy for ignorance concerning the post office if taken in time and in sufficient doses. He is as full of information regarding the mails as Rep. James R. Mann is regarding parliamentary precedents or Senator La Follette regarding the railroads.

Right off the bat he could tell you, if you wanted to know, how much it would cost you to send a dozen China eggs for your home in Bluefield to your aunt in Billings, Mont., and if you asked further, he'd tell you just how much profit the government made on the shipment and how much the railroad made.

Congressman Lewis is a great believer in the possibilities of the post office and his present pet idea is the postalization of the telephone and telegraph. Commenting on the advocacy of this move by Postmaster Burleson, he said the other day.

"Mr. Burleson's predecessors for 50 years have given like counsel. The principal countries of the world, the United States alone excepted, have already postalized these agencies. Why? Briefly, because the postoffice alone has the motive and the facilities to make rates low enough to render service to all the people. Before the parcels post we had the highest parcel rates. They are now among the lowest in the world. We still have the highest telegraph rates. They run from 25 cents to $1. Where the post conducts the telegraph they run from 10 cents to 24 cents for the longest distances.

"The result of our high rates is that we use the telegraph little. New Zealand with the 12-inch rate shows 9 telegraph per capita the United States only 1. But with the lowest letter rates we show the highest use, 101 letters per capita as against 93 for New Zealand. While our telegraph rates run from two to over four times as high as countries like Australia with distances as long and wages as high as our own, our toll or long distance rates are even more moderate. They run from three to seven times as high as the postal telephone rates of other countries.

"The average rate for 100 miles in nine countries of Europe is 20 cents as against 60 cents here; for 300 miles, 37 cents as against $1.80 here for 400 miles, 39 cents as against $2.40; for 500 miles, 46 cents as against $3; for 700 miles, 53 cents, as against $4.20.

"That is to say, for 100 miles we pay three times as much as they in Europe and for 700 miles, we pay eight times as much.

"It costs the American as much to ship his long-distance conversation over the wires as it costs him to ship his freight over the rails. The railroads get on an average 7 mills a mile for moving a ton of freight. The charge for carrying three-minute conversation a mile is 6 mills. Conversations weigh about a ton on the long distance wires.

"The effect of the rates is to reduce the traffic to a point as abnormally low as the rates are abnormally high. Combining telegrams and telephone messages we find that other countries use the wire from two to four times as much as we. Denmark shows 17 such messages per capita—we show only three. We rank first in the use of the letter, but thirteenth in the use of the wire. Moreover, our companies maintain but one telegraph office to every seven postoffices. The postal institutions maintain an average of two telegraph offices to every three post offices. This is the penalty our country pays for permitting a pri-

Elegance and Economy in WOOLTEX TAILORED COATS & SUITS

THE problem of being well dressed without extravagance is always present in the mind of the careful woman and she finds the way to secure refined and becoming apparel at a price that is well within the resources of her income.

Wooltex suits and coats provide the best possible answer to this important problem of correct dress. Always moderate in their prices, yet Wooltex garments are produced with a care and skill and thoroughness of manufacture, that is unequalled in other ready-to-wear garments.

Wooltex garments are always correct in style, conforming in the fullest degree to the style tendency, yet never extreme; always in modes that do not go quickly out of fashion; thus making them most economical to buy.

Considered for good style and elegance alone, the values of Wooltex garments are remarkable; when to this you add an exceptionally extended service, the unusual economy of buying Wooltex garments is overwhelming.

The coat illustrated, No. 1321, represents the refined character of all Wooltex garments, which are now shown in very broad assortments of both coats and suits, at a very interesting range of popular prices.

SAYS BOYS CLUB IS PROPER THING

Dr. L. W. Snyder Advises Against
Y. M. C. A. Because it Wouldn't be Supported.

HOPES SOMETHING WILL COME

Says he Will be on Ground Floor and
Help and Sentiment Along This Line Crystalizes.

Before departing today for a week's stay at points in Missouri, Dr. Leonard W. Snyder, known throughout the United States as the Boys' Minister, commented briefly on the agitation that is going forward here concerning an institution of some sort—a Y. M. C. A., Boys' Club, community center building, or something of the kind—that will form a place of recreation and amusement for boys and young men.

He advised strongly against a Y. M. C. A. He called attention to the fact that Y. M. C. A. buildings in cities the size of Rushville were never self-supporting and could not obtain the support of the national organization. His belief is that a Boys' Club can be made a permanent institution in Rushville, one that will in time be self-supporting and will be the pride of the community.

"A Y. M. C. A. is not the proper thing for Rushville," said Dr. Snyder. "It would be a dead weight because experience has taught that they will not succeed in cities of this size. But there is no reason why Rushville should not have a Boys' Club. All that is lacking, so far as I find, is the money and the proper interest and spirit.

"There is plenty of money in the community to build a Boys' Club building. In time it could be made self-supporting after the club was built, a manager who was capable could make it an unqualified success. There might be some business rooms on the ground floor and some rooms for boys who have no home to live in.

"And why shouldn't Rushville people who have the money, do this for the boys of Rushville? What is the value in money if you can not spend it? Where is the pleasure in possession of money if you forego the pleasure of spending it?

"We've all seen boys who have made miserable failures of their lives, largely because they have lacked opportunities. They have not been furnished with the right sort of ideals. If there are boys of this class in Rushville—and there most certainly are—the people of Rushville are to blame for the condition. They have the means to correct a condition that is keeping boys down and they do not use it to better them."

Dr. Snyder said he hoped that the sentiment which has made itself felt here would crystallize into something tangible and that some effort could be made to get a Boys' Club.

"You may count on me," he said enthusiastically, in closing. "I will be on the ground floor and do all I can if something of the kind is started."

Dr. Snyder is a man of wide experience gained through philanthropic work and travel in all parts of the United States. He is a native of Holland and a graduate of several universities. Dr. Snyder has devoted himself to boys work for years and has accomplished great things, according to testimonials which he has from boys living in many parts of the country.

Roof of Mrs. Olive Haywood Ignites
From Spark From Old Grate
When Fire is Started.

COMPANY THROWS NO WATER

The roof at the home of Mrs. Olive Haywood, 813 North Sexton street, was slightly damaged by fire this morning at eleven o'clock. The roof is believed to have caught on fire from a spark as there was no indication that the flue was defective. A fire was built in an old grate this morning the first time this spring and it is almost certain that a spark ignited the shingles. The fire department was called and succeeded in putting out the blaze without throwing any water. The large chemical was used very successfully. The damage to the roof was estimated at about $15. Most of the household furniture was removed from the house before the fire department arrived. The residence is owned by John Cooning and the damage is fully insured.

ELECTED HEAD OF CARTHAGE SCHOOLS

Nathan W. Coil, Science Instructor
in Rushville High School, is Picked by Board.

A SUPERINTENDENT BEFORE

Nathan W. Coil, science instructor in the Rushville high school, has been elected superintendent of the Carthage public schools for the school year 1915-1916, it was announced today. Professor Coil has been teaching physics, general science and botany in the local high school this year. He has given general satisfaction with his work.

Mr. Coil is a graduate of Wabash College, at Crawfordsville, receiving his A. B. there. He later took two years of science in Cornell university. Since leaving Cornell Mr. Coil has been superintendent of schools in a number of small places in Indiana. He left the superintendency at Monon, Indiana, last year, and came here to get some practical experience in high school teaching work. He now desires to return to supervising work. School officials expressed sorrow at his leaving and wish him success in his new field.

Charley Manville, Big Four conductor of the 8:03 southbound train and 5:32 north bound, is taking his vacation in Alabama. His vacancy is being filled by Earl Davis, who formerly lived in this city.

LIBRARY GETS 15 NEW VOLUMES

Knights of Columbus Give Catholic
Encyclopedia at Regular Monthly Meeting.

THE REV. M. W. LYONS SPEAKS

E. B. Thomas Responds to Presentation Speech on Behalf of Board
—Librarian's Report.

The usual routine of the monthly library board meeting yesterday afternoon was broken by the presentation of the Rushville council of Knights of Columbus of a magnificent set of the Catholic encyclopedia. The presentation speech was made by the Rev. M. W. Lyons. The encyclopedia, which consists of fifteen large volumes besides an index volume, is viewed as one of the biggest achievements of recent times in book-making.

The usual monthly report of the librarian was heard. It showed that 1,786 books were loaned from the Rushville library during the month of March which is a daily average of sixty-eight books. Ninety-seven new volumes were placed on the shelves during the month making a total of 2,976 in the library. Enough more have been purchased to make the number above the three thousand mark. Several new books, consisting of fiction and children's works, were purchased during March.

There are sixteen million words in the volumes of the Catholic encyclopedia, treating thirty thousand subjects. There are more than three thousand illustrations, including many exquisite reproductions of the "Old Masters," and sixty-six maps in the encyclopedia. Every article is original, it is stated, and there are sixteen hundred contributors representing forty-three countries.

In presenting the volumes the Rev. Mr. Lyons explained that the encyclopedia is to be found on the shelves of every important library, but understanding that the funds at the disposal of the library here are limited, the local members of the Knights of Columbus took pleasure in donating the set.

Their purpose was to place before the public authoritative information on the entire cycle of Catholic interests, action and doctrine. It is not exclusively a church encyclopedia, since its chronicle of the achievements of Catholic artists, scientists and educators touches upon the story of the whole intellectual and artistic development of mankind, he declared.

Attention was called to the fact that special pride is taken in the spirit of fairness which runs through all the pages. The denominational press has been unanimous in praising this saving feature.

Concluding his remarks Father Lyons expressed the hope that free use of the encyclopedia would be made by students of history; by those who are interested in the wide range of religious thought and by all who appreciate accurate scholarship and reverence truth for truths sake.

Responding for the board, E. B. Thomas assured the committee that the generosity of the Knights of Columbus was deeply appreciated; that the interest shown in the library was highly commendable and that he felt certain that the presentation of these volumes and the opportunity thus given for studying the history and doctrines of a great religious organization will clear away many misunderstandings and bring about a high spirit of mutual consideration. Mr. Thomas added that the board would express these sentiments in

Rushville Policy Holders in Anchor
Life Insurance Co., Interested
in Suit Filed by State.

RECEIVER HAS BEEN NAMED

Amended Complaint Alleges That
President Has Absconded—
Allegation is Denied.

Local policy holders in the Anchor Insurance Company who have been following the steps taken in the suit filed in the Marion superior court by Richard M. Milburn attorney-general of Indiana, asking that a receiver be appointed on the ground that the company is insolvent, will be interested in the new development of the case. Deputy Attorney-General Omer Jackson has filed an amended complaint setting forth that the president of the company has absconded and is concealing himself and has left the management of the business affairs in the hands of a young woman.

After a hearing in which there were disclosures of intricate manipulations of stocks and securities of large denominations but of little actual value, Judge Rockford, of the superior court, in Indianapolis, yesterday, placed Harry L. Arnold, actuary in the insurance department of the auditor of state's office, in charge of the affairs of the company. The court has taken under advisement the application of the attorney-general, for the appointment of a receiver for the company. Myron C. Cosler, a paying teller at the Security Trust Company, although practically penniless, said he signed a note for $42,000, payable to the Anchor Life Insurance Company, just to accommodate George H. Craft, secretary of the company.

Restraintment from the company transacting further business is also asked in the suit. The filing of the action is the outgrowth of weeks of investigation of the company's business by the office of the auditor of state, Dale J. Crittenger, and many rumors have circulated concerning alleged evidence against the company's operations, which the state officers have said they possess and will be brought out in the trial.

A statement of alleged facts in the case, contained in a letter to the attorney general from Mr. Crittenger, contends that the company's legal reserve, to protect policy holders, deposited with the auditor of state, under the provisions of the insurance law, is impaired $43,402.29.

William B. Paul, one of the attorneys for the life insurance company, said the charge as to Thomas W. Wilson, president of the company, having disappeared is not based on fact, as Wilson was in Indianapolis until Monday, when he left for southern Illinois.

A receiver for the International Securities Company—a holding company organized under the law of Maine, of which Thomas W. Wilson and George H. Craft, of the Anchor Life, are president and secretary, respectively—is asked in a suit filed in Judge Rockford's court by William W. Henry and seven other stockholders in the International Securities Company.

The Anchor Life is involved in this suit in that it is alleged that all the International has to show for $500,000 realized from the sale of its stock is approximately $40,000 worth of stock in the Anchor Life Insurance Company.

It is alleged that the International was organized with a capital stock of $500,000, divided into 50,000 shares of $10 each.

SUPERINTENDENTS TO MEET

J. H. Scholl Will Attend Sessions
and Conference at Bloomington.

Superintendent J. H. Scholl will go to Crawfordsville for the meeting tomorrow of the Central Indiana Superintendents' club. The day will be spent visiting the schools and at night a round table discussion will be held. The next day the superintendents will go to Bloomington for a two-days' conference for school superintendents which will be held under the auspices of Indiana university. Dr. L. P. Ayres of the Russell Sage Foundation will talk and Dr. Curtis of Detroit will discuss the measuring of the abilities of school children. This is the second annual conference of the sort.

HELD FOR PASSING FRAUDULENT CHECK

Herbert Hall of Milroy is Arrested
Today on Affidavit Filed in Circuit Court.

MISSING SINCE LAST MONDAY

Herbert Hall, of Milroy, was arrested this afternoon by Sheriff Cavitt on a warrant issued in the circuit court based on an affidavit filed by Meek and Spillman, a Milroy firm, alleging that he passed a fraudulent check. Hall was to be arraigned before Judge Sparks late this afternoon.

The warrant for Hall's arrest had been out since Monday and he evidently was expecting arrest as he left home Monday and did not come back until today. The check Hall is alleged to have issued at the Meek and Spillman store without first having the necessary funds in the bank, was for $3, and was issued last week. Meek and Spillman offered to let him square the account within a certain time, but he refused and then the affidavit was filed.

BOYS WARNED ABOUT THROWING STONES

Fifteen Boys Ranging in Age From
Seven to Sixteen Are Lectured
by Mayor Behout.

PRACTICE IS DANGEROUS

About fifteen boys ranging in age from seven to sixteen years were before Mayor Behout last night and given a good lecturing about throwing stones. Numerous complaints have been made to the police regarding boys throwing stones at automobiles and despite warnings the practice continued. As a last resort the boys were rounded up and brought before the mayor where they were told what to expect if the practice did not stop. In the northern part of the city several boys have been throwing stones along the paved streets and on the sidewalks. Several persons have been hit and some windows broken. The police and city officials are determined that the throwing must be stopped and arrests will follow if the warning is not heeded.

A seven pound boy was born to the wife of Ralph Pearsey in North Sexton street Sunday. It has been named Charles Alden.

NO BONDS ARE OBTAINED YET

Impression Prevails That all Terre
Haute Convicted Men Will Have
to go to Prison

21 SENT TO LEAVENWORTH

Fines of Five Sentenced Reduced by Judge Anderson From $100 to
$1. Sentences Stand

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—District Attorney Frank C. Dailey said today that no appeal bonds had been presented for his approval for the convicted and sentenced Terre Haute politicians being held in the Marion county jail. Since only 21 men were sentenced to Leavenworth prison, a special train will be unnecessary, but a special car will be used to transfer them.

The impression prevailed today that Mayor Donn Roberts, sentenced to serve six years in Leavenworth and to pay a $2,000 fine, would be unable to provide the $60,000 appeal bond and the $12,000 deposit demanded by the surety companies.

Five convicted men have had their fines reduced by Judge A. B. Anderson, it became known today. They are John Masselink, George Sovern, Joe O'Mara, Joe Strouse and Arthur Gillis. Their fines were reduced from $100 to one dollar, but they still must serve one year and a day in Leavenworth.

Councilman Jno L. Cronin and Geo. Ohm of Terre Haute obtained a permit from Marshal Storen today to see Mayor Roberts in jail. They told Storen they were going to ask the mayor to resign.

Mrs. Roberts was making a determined effort today to obtain bond for her husband, but it was unknown with what success. She visited the offices of many attorneys and bonding companies and obtained a permit to see Roberts. One bonding company reported that newspaper publicity had caused several prospective bondsmen to back away.

It was understood that Shea could put up the required deposit and give bond but that he preferred for the present to remain in jail because if he made that deposit it would assist Mayor Roberts to give bond. One deposit of $12,000 would cover the trial cost for all appellants.

Four more of the sentenced and convicted men have informed Judge Anderson that they will not appeal their cases to a higher court and wanted to accept the penalty imposed by the court without more delay. The four who withdrew are Thomas Smith, judge of the City Court of Terre Haute, Edward Driscoll, assistant city engineer of Terre Haute, Joseph O'Mara, superintendent of streets, and Maurice Walsh, secretary of the Democratic county committee.

Judge Anderson allowed Walsh and O'Mara their freedom until next Sunday afternoon under a promise that they would start for Leavenworth from Terre Haute not later than 12:30 o'clock next Sunday. Driscoll and Smith were not so favored, although they informed the court that they did not care to proceed with the appeal.

Smith received permission from Judge Anderson to go to Terre Haute tomorrow morning and return in the evening in company with a deputy United States marshal. He asked the court for that privilege pleading that he had some affairs to look after there and Judge Anderson granted it. With the withdrawal of Driscoll, Smith, Walsh, O'Mara from the appeal yesterday, the total number to announce their withdrawal is brought to eight.

Chicago, April 14.—Wheat prices went on a rampage today. May options on wheat advanced four and a quarter cents and July options went up six cents. May closed at $1.60 1/2 and July at $1.29 1/2. September wheat was quoted at $1.15 at the close, a gain of four and three-quarters cents. May corn advanced one and a quarter cents, closing at 74 cents a bushel, and July one cent, closing at 76 3/4. September corn was quoted at 76 7/8 at the close, a gain of three-fourths of a cent. May oats gained five-eighths of a cent, July one and one-eighth cents and September one-eighth.

TWO NAMES OMITTED.

Two names were omitted from the honor rolls of pupils in the Rushville public schools, from the fourth to the eighth grade inclusive, who received 100 per cent. in the spelling contest. The name of Mildred Williams, a pupil in 6A at the Jackson building was omitted through an error in proof reading and the name of Edna Wagner was omitted through an oversight in copying the names at school.

REASON NOT ASCERTAINED

One Advanced is That Kaiser's Men
Want's to Show British Blockade is Not Damaging.

Note William G. Shepherd is the first American newspaper man who has been granted the privilege of visiting the British army in the field since Lord Kitchener's army of a million took the field.

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
(Copyrighted 1915 by United Press) (Copyrighted in Great Britain.)

Headquarters of the British Army, Northern France, April 14.—The Germans are firing shells marked "Made in the United States" against the British. They have been doing so ever since the American military attaches were withdrawn from Germany.

It is understood generally that the American attaches were withdrawn because the Germans were repeatedly calling to their attention the fact that Russians were using American shells. The situation, therefore, became so embarrassing to the attaches with the German army that they found it necessary to leave.

Almost as soon as attaches departed from German British army officers began to note the Germans were using shells apparently of American manufacturers. These bear the mark "R. Stock & Co." There is a sufficiently large collection of these shells at British headquarters to establish the fact that the Germans possess a considerable supply of these supposed American shells. Whether the Germans are using them so as to indicate to the English that their navy is not preventing the shipment of ammunition from the United States to Germany or whether the intention is to create criticism of the United States in England are questions yet unsolved. There is no doubt that the shipment of ammunition from the United States to Germany ended almost as soon as the war started owing to the activity of the English fleet. The shells the Germans are now using either were sold to Germany before the war or were not made in the United States, but have been falsely labeled.

FIRM IS UNKNOWN.

(By United Press.)
New York, April 14.—At the offices of the Remington Arms & Ammunition Company here it was stated positively this afternoon that there is no American firm of ammunition manufacturers named "R. Stock & Co." the firm name referred to in William G. Shepherd's cable to the United Press. The officials of the Remington company added that they knew of no foreign firms of that name.

VISITING DAY AT 2 SCHOOLS

Teachers of Havens and Jackson
Buildings in Indianapolis.

The teachers of the Jackson and Havens school were given a visiting day for the purpose of studying the work of reading and arithmetic in the Indianapolis schools. Particular attention is also to be given to the inspection of the writing. The teachers will observe methods and the advancement of the pupils at this time of the year and report their observations to the schools at home. They left on an early car this morning and have planned for a full day's work of inspection. The Washington and Graham schools were not dismissed as the work in the Graham school will be changed considerably next year and the opportunity for comparison of progress would not have been so valuable for next year's work.

Attention has called before to the season of the year, when, speaking in terms of the fly, it is the time to "make hay while the sun shines." Flies are scarce now. The familiar buzz is rare. But in their scarcity now lies their danger. They slip up on us. They are with us by the millions before we realize it. We can better realize this thing by reading the journal of a house fly which is issued by the state board of health and is appended:

1. Thursday, Nov. 2, 1914—Went into winter quarters. Barely lived through the long, hard winter.
2. April 20, 1915—Came out of winter quarters and laid my first batch of eggs—120 in number—in a manure heap.
3. April 21, 1915—My first 120 eggs have hatched.
4. April 22, 1915—Larvae have undergone first molt.
5. April 23, 1915—Larvae have undergone second molt.
6. April 26, 1915—Larvae transformed into pupae.
7. May 1, 1915—One hundred and twenty full grown flies, sixty of which are females.
8. May 3, 1915—Laid my second batch—120 eggs—this time in the fifth of an uncleaned privy.
9. May 13, 1915—One hundred and twenty flies came from my second batch of eggs. Laid my third batch in a kind neighbor's garbage can.
10. May 20, 1915—The city has offered a prize to the school child who will kill the largest number of flies. The boy at the house where I live is killing flies right and left. And to think—we have all been eating at the same table with him.
11. May 21, 1915—Laid my fourth batch of eggs. Left alone and unhindered, by Sept. 19, 1915, my descendants will number 5,598,720,000,000.

An Ideal Citizen.

There is a gentleman in Rushville, known to us all, who is just about our ideal of a good citizen. He is making his money here, he is raising and educating his family here, and he expects to live and die here. When he has any money to spend he first looks carefully over the advertisements in this paper. If he finds what he wants he goes there and gives that merchant the first opportunity. In everything he buys he gives the home merchant the preference. He occasionally buys articles from abroad, but they are cases wherein he cannot find that which he seeks in his own community. He believes in his home town, and because he does believe in it and intends to continue to live in it he grasps every possible means of advancing its interests by keeping his money in circulation at home. He, to our mind, is the IDEAL CITIZEN. Would that he were multiplied a thousand fold. For we need more of him. Silence is golden—after election.

The defeat of Jack Johnson removes a dark cloud from the pugilistic horizon.

Second Chapter: England is not to become "dry." The glass will only be half filled.

European powers have accorded

Japan a free hand in China. A meal of stuffed turkey is good, but—yum, yum!

The government maintains an army of cats in the Chicago post office. Rats!

Even peace has its advantages? Let's hang onto it.

With the election out of the way the demand for mud will be minimized.

Life will be sweeter if you do most of your courting after marriage.

So many men have been killed in Europe we wonder there are any left to censor the reports.

Evangelist Billy Sunday is to purify Chicago. Probably by that time wireless communication will be in operation with the hereafter, and we will be assured of uncensored reports of his victory.

Having lost the pugilistic belt, Jack Johnson may now retire from beneath his plug hat without provoking international comment.

Ambition is a good thing, but it needs pluck and energy to boost it along.

Whitewater Presbytery, Which Closes at Richmond, Admits Dr. D. Ira Lambert of Rushville.

TWO MEN FROM HERE ATTEND

Cambridge City was selected as the meeting place for the fall session of the Whitewater Presbytery before the spring session closed yesterday in Richmond. The Rev. E. E. Davis, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Richmond, was elected Moderator of the Presbytery to succeed the Rev. Homer M. Campbell, of the Kingston church. The Rev. D. Ira Lambert and Joseph L. Cowing of this city attended the session. Almost the entire membership of thirty delegates was present. The Rev. Mr. Lambert was admitted to the Presbytery as were Joseph Rae, of Chicago, the Rev. David Moore, of Cincinnati, and the Rev. John L. Hartsook, of Portsmouth, Ohio. Thomas Campbell, of Rising Sun, and Edward W. Lodwie, of Bright, were elected clerks of the Presbytery.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

Goshen, Ind., Apr. 14.—Johnnie Wolf is approaching the age of 20 months and is sound and happy. He didn't have a frog in his throat; it was in his stomach. The youngster began losing weight despite a hearty appetite, and mother had visions of the work. The boy's stomach was photographed via X-ray and a big lump was seen. Doctors operated and brought out a half-pound milk-fed frog in the best of health. Mrs. Harry Wolf believes Johnnie swallowed a tadpole when they visited Mrs. Gregory's grandmother, in Syracuse. They drank hydrant water there.

To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS, 36 1/2 West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

It is a paradox but also a simple truth that the life work of the consumption germ begins after its death. This germ is surrounded by a thick waxy skin which protects and insulates it during life. After it is killed in the fight with the cells of the body it has invaded the waxy skin is broken and dissolved and the poisons it carries are liberated. These poisons have an irritating effect on the tissues causing congestion and producing an exudate. These poisons also have necrobiotic powers which means that they can cause the death of a part of any tissue.

The extension of the tuberculosis processes, or we might say the growth of the cavities in the lung, cannot occur unless the poisons from the dead germs prepare the way for the living germs. The cure of consumption therefore, depends upon finding a medicine or antitoxin or serum, which will neutralize the poisons of the tubercle bacilli. Nature always supplies antitoxins, but all too frequently in not sufficient quantities to neutralize the toxins and then the person dies. How to arouse nature to produce antitoxins in sufficient quantities to neutralize the toxins is the problem.

It was thought at one time Koch's tuberculin would do the work, but it is not the general success. Yet, in instances, it will stimulate the body to produce antitoxins in sufficient abundance to stop the progress of the disease. Another method of cure is possible, and it is, in some way or manner, to make the tissues inhospitable to the growth of the consumption bacilli or a watery extract of them. But after all it is not a cure that we want for the rational thing is to practice prevention.

An ounce of prevent is worth not only a pound of cure, but it is worth many pounds. Prevention we have at hand and any one can have it without price, yet there is little interest in the matter. When Friedman announced he had discovered a turtle serum which would cure consumption great excitement prevailed from the United States senate to the hovels of the land. Just why a fake cure should set us going so hard while positively known prevention meets no favor is explained by the fact that man has always stupidly searched after a substitute for righteousness. Of course there is no substitute but man will certainly keep up the search just the same.

Hoosier History In Tabloid

(Prepared by the United Press from records in the state library). "Indiana was among the first, if not the first, to report herself to be ready to send troops forward to the assistance of the government" when Fort Sumpter was fired on in 1861. This was largely due to the activity of Governor Morton, Indiana war governor who went actively at work to obtain volunteers, to maintain the union as soon as President Lincoln's call was received. The first regiment mustered in was called the Sixth. It was ready by April 25, 1861. It was sent at once to Virginia under the command of Colonel Thomas T. Crittenden.

VILLA IS HURLING SHELLS

(By United Press.) Washington, April 14.—Mexican fighting threatened Brownsville, Texas so seriously today that General Funston was on his way there from Fort Sam Houston. He notified the war department.

A battle raged all of Tuesday about Matamoros and along the river bank to a point a mile west of Brownsville, Funston reported. General Villa, he said, had two field guns and had dropped 20 shells into Matamoros. Rifle bullets had fallen on the United States side of the border near the Brownsville pumping station.

(By United Press.) London, April 13.—French aviators bombarded Hamburg, Germany, setting fire to the barracks, according to an unofficial report received here this afternoon.

If the London report is true the raid is without parallel in the history of the war. From the nearest point within the French lines to Hamburg is a distance of about 375 miles. The aviators might easily have been within striking distance of Berlin itself.

PENNANT CHASE STARTED TODAY

Usual Speeches by Mayors and Governors Marked Official Opening of Big Leagues

TIGHTER RACES ASSURED

Trades, Switches and Drafts Have Given Fans Interest Since Close of Last Season

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)

New York, Apr. 14.—They're off today. The chase for the 1915 championship began when the National and American leagues opened their seasons. Seven months of baseball of the "organized" big league variety was served up on the platter to American fandom today. Seasons in both big leagues close Oct. 7. Then comes the worlds series.

Great celebrations today in cities lucky drawing the opening games were held. The usual brass band parades with mayors, governors and baseball magnates tossing out the first ball were scheduled. President Wilson is slated for this duty in Washington today if he can discard cares of state for the call of the horsehide.

Old Doc Weather was the big factor in today's baseball debut. Fans anxiously scanned the clouds this morning. At most cities the click of the turnstiles was begun at noon. All cities reported "standing room only" on advance sales.

Mayor Mitchell promised to toss out the ball today at the Polo ground where the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers had a mammoth crowd awaiting the clang of the gong. "Big Six" Mathewson and Nap Rucker were slated for the mound. McGraw however, was not fully decided and may substitute Tesreau at the eleventh hour.

The world champs Boston Braves had the Phillies as their foes at Beantown, with a capacity crowd promised to welcome the champions. Manager Johnny Evers planned to pitch big Dick Rudolph, but Tyler and James are "in the hole."

The Pirates were at Cincinnati to battle Charley Herzog's Reds and at Chicago, Roger Bresnahan's Cubs opened the West Side park with the Cardinals.

In the American League the Collinsless, bakerless Athletics opened Shibe Park with the Boston Red Sox the latter picked by many fans as the probable American league pennant winners. Walter Johnson at Washington will as usual, pitch the opening game there against Bill Donovan's rejuvenated Yankees with King Cole as the probable pitcher for the latter.

With Eddie Collins in a White Sox uniform at second, the Chicago team will meet Branch Riekey's Browns at St. Louis, and Ee-yah Jennings Tigers hook up at Detroit with the Cleveland cellar champs.

Switches and trades, drafts and purchases since the season closed last fall gave fans renewed interest in the new line ups presented for the first time today. The Athletics showed the best radical change, with Nap Lajoie on second instead of Collins, and Coombs, Bender and Plank absent from the pitchers roll. All managers made their usual ante-season pennant claims today, with all eight teams in each league certain of the "old rag."

Tighter races are assured, however, in both leagues. The Giants and the Braves look to me like the class of the veteran organization, and the Red Sox and the White Sox in the Americans.

BALL PARK IS BUSY PLACE RIGHT NOW

Work on Grand Stand and Diamond Being Pushed and Everything Will be Ready For Opener.

MUCH FILLING NECESSARY

One of the busy places in the city at present is the Main Street ball park. The work of building the grand stand and getting the diamond in place is being rushed and if the weather stays right the park will be in shape for the opening game of the season one week from Sunday. Contractor Williams has about completed work on the concrete part of the grand stand and states that the rest will not take long. He has made good time so far. The ball park is visited every day, by large numbers of fans interested in the game here. The diamond is being filled and graded. Thomas Geraghty is in charge of this work and it is no small job. It was estimated that 200 loads of dirt would be required to make the necessary fill and the dirt is rapidly being placed on the infield.

The directors will meet Friday night at which time bids will be received on the refreshment privileges for the summer.

ADVANCES TEN MILES INTO HUNGARY

Russian Right Wing Now in Position to Strike Railway Leading South Through Lupkow Pass.

ARMIES ARE AGAIN IN CLASH

(By United Press.)
Retograd, April 14.—The Russian right wing in the Carpathians has advanced ten miles into Hungary in the past few days of fighting and is now in position to strike at the railway leading south through the Lupkow pass stated dispatches to the war office today.

The Slav advance in this region has again been halted pending the outcome of the fierce struggle for the Uzkok pass. To the north the Germans are pressing nearer the Russian positions in Poland particularly north of the Vistula. Fighting is going on north of Bokovina. At nearly every section of the eight-hundred mile battle front the opposing armies are again in clash.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

The Girl of the Secret Service

"Moving Picture Story Contest" Prize Story by Florence M. Higgins, dramatized and produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing Co., and Renovelized by H. M. Egbert

Copyright, 1915

"No, sir, I won't be watching Japs this time next month, and wondering whether they're imperial spies or merely houseboys," remarked Francis Gordon of the secret service to his friend as they lingered outside the railway station. "There'll be a clear month's leave coming to Barbara and me and we're going to make our honeymoon worth while. It'll be New York and—say, it seems to me I've seen that fellow's face before."

The two friends looked at the group of Japanese who were clustered upon the station platform. The man's face certainly appeared familiar, but then it was hard to distinguish one Jap from another.

"I wish you luck," said Gordon's friend, gripping his hand. "Miss Ward and you have pulled together for a good while now."

"She's just a girl, but the cleverest member of the secret service," said Gordon, enthusiastically. "And she isn't going to quit just because she's marrying me. Hello! Look there!"

A young, smartly-dressed woman was waiting on the station platform, and one of the Japanese, detaching himself from the group, approached her and began talking in an eager manner. After some hesitation she accompanied him, the man's companions scattering as they advanced up the platform, and then following the pair.

"There's something that'll bear watching in that," muttered Gordon. "She didn't know the fellow. He's taking her into an auto. Here's where we follow!"

The two chartered a machine, and none too soon, for the woman, now accompanied by three Japanese, had entered a waiting automobile and was being whirled away. The detectives followed, taking care to keep far enough behind to avoid arousing suspicion. After a furious race, involving a number of turns, the automobile drew up at the entrance to a rather ramshackle house upon the edge of the Chinese quarter.

Stepping out of the automobile, the woman and the three men ran up the long flight of steps and disappeared within the entrance.

"Now I wonder why she went there?" suggested Gordon. "Best wait a while, I think."

They waited, but no sound came from within, and at length, being detailed upon a case, they went away with some misgiving.

Entering the chief's office later in the day, Gordon found a consultation in progress. Barbara Ward, his fiancée, a pretty girl who looked like anything but a member of the secret service, came tripping up to him.

"Look at that, Frank!" she exclaimed gleefully, pointing to her hat. "Twenty-nine-fifty at the sale, and they said it came from Paris and was marked down."

"Now, Miss Ward!" remonstrated the chief impatiently. "Gordon, I've been trying to get you this last half hour. It seems a matter of importance. You know Fred Langford, the inventor? He's dropped out of sight lately, because those Jap spies have been bothering him, trying to get the secret of the new naval gun he's working on. He was expecting his wife this morning from the East. Well, he got this note in place of her, and he ran round here like a crazy man. I had to send Johnson home with him, with orders to keep him there till the matter's settled. You'll see why when you read this."

Gordon took the note from the chief's hand and read: "Your wife is in our hands. Be at Red Briggs, Chinatown, at eight o'clock tonight, or your wife will pay the penalty. The Black Hand." "That's the first time I heard of the Black Hand having a rendezvous in Chinatown," said Gordon thoughtfully, as he handed back the note. "It looks like—why, it's some game of Kawakami's!" he shouted, suddenly remembering the face of the Japanese whom he had thought he knew.

"I see his game now," he continued. "He's kidnapped Mrs. Langford and forced her to tell him Langford's address, so that he can get him in his power. The Black Hand and the five thousand are part of the bluff." And he told the chief of the episode of that morning.

"I'll take Miss Ward with me," he said, and the chief agreed.

On the way to the pretty studio bungalow which Barbara occupied her lover outlined his plans.

"I'll meet the Japs with the money while you rescue Mrs. Langford," he said.

"There'll be a good three hours till sundown," he continued. "I've half formed my plan already. Suppose you wait at the studio till I return, and make up as a Jap—a man, Barbara."

It was an hour later when his automobile rolled up. It contained, besides himself, one of his aides and the limp, trussed body of a Japanese man. Quickly the prisoner was carried inside the studio, where Barbara awaited them. Her pretty hair was concealed under a black wig, her eyes squinted oddly beneath the obliquely pencilled eyebrows—in short, Barbara Ward looked a very passable Japanese indeed, just such a boy as may be seen anywhere at all hours in the coast cities.

"Here's one of them, Barbara," panted Gordon. "I caught him coming out of the house. Now we'll have the screen up and you can exchange clothes with him."

Five minutes later the trio emerged into the street, leaving the bound and gagged prisoner upon the studio floor. The moment that the door had closed the Japanese deftly began to wriggle out of his bonds.

They whirled away in the machine until they were a block from the house. Barbara descended. "Good luck, dear," whispered Gordon. Then the machine was gone in a cloud of dust, leaving Barbara before the house, uncertain and afraid, in spite of her brave denial.

Hardly had she reached the bottom of the long flight of stairs when the door opened and half a dozen Japanese came out together. It was too late to retreat. Barbara averted her face and lit a cigarette to conceal it. But the men, hastening by, thought her the watchman and hardly glanced at her.

She hurried up the steps. By a miracle of good luck the door was open.

She closed it softly behind her. The interior of the house was dark and gloomy, and the mission must be carried through as hastily as possible, before any of the men returned. Some would probably escape from the trap that Gordon had laid; and the rendezvous was hardly five blocks away. Overcoming her reluctance Barbara hurried up the stairs. At the top of the first flight was an open door, through which the girl could see a room furnished in oriental style, with the inlaid teak tables of a Chinese eating or gaming house. As she hesitated, a wizened Chinaman came slowly toward her. She shrank back into a dark corner. The man peered about him, withdrew and closed the door.

Next instant Barbara was scurrying up to the top story. Some instinct, born of experience, told her that the captive would probably be at the top of the house. There were two doors here, one on either side of a ladder leading up to a trap door in the roof. Barbara hesitated one instant only, then she opened the door to the right.

Upon a pile of sacks crouched Mrs. Langford, moaning in fear. As Barbara entered she looked up, sprang to her feet and shrank back against the wall in terror.

Barbara tried to make her understand, but the woman seemed paralyzed with fear. At last she took her by the arms and shook her roughly.

"I'm a woman—don't you understand?" she whispered. "And I have come to save you. Quick!" She pushed the captive before her toward the ladder.

Suddenly she heard the shouts of men below. A Japanese was running up the stairs. Looking down over the banisters Barbara saw the prisoner whom Gordon had brought to the studio. At the same time her eye fell on a long coil of rope.

"This way!" she cried, snatching up the rope and driving the woman before her up the ladder.

As she followed her the Japanese came rushing up. Barbara felt him grasp at her. She struck him in the face with her heel. The man released his grip and tumbled backward. An instant later Barbara stood upon the roof with Mrs. Langford.

The high, isolated roof overlooked a yard, an awful distance below. There were perhaps two minutes of grace. The house seemed filled with tumult. Without a second's delay Barbara knotted the rope about the other woman, fastening it beneath her arms.

"I am going to lower you," she said. "I can't—I can't," stammered the other in terror. "Let me go! I—I—"

But Barbara remorselessly drew her to the edge and, yielding in the apathy or fear, Mrs. Langford was slowly lowered. As her body disappeared over the edge the Japanese rushed up the ladder.

Barbara's hand closed about something in the pocket of her coat. It was the man's revolver. She drew it and covered him.

Inch by inch Mrs. Langford descended, hanging over a space which seemed to her a nightmare of horror. And, as she descended, Barbara, upon the roof, covered the Japanese.

He squirmed and dodged, but the girl mechanically wheeled and faced him until suddenly the rope slackened. The prisoner had reached the ground. For a few moments Mrs. Langford remained as though petrified with fear. Then, glancing wildly about her, she saw a door in the wall of the yard and, rushing through, found herself upon the street at the side of the house. In front of her was an automobile. She ran toward it, screaming.

As the last strand was played out Barbara's gaze shifted, and instantly the Japanese was upon her. He snatched the revolver from her hand and dragged her toward the trap door, which, lifted again, disclosed the villainous face of a fellow conspirator.

Helpless as a child in the grasp of her captors, Barbara was carried down the ladder, into the center of the throng. And in her agony she cried one word:

"Gordon!"

She heard the crash of a door below. The secret service men rushed up the stairs. She saw Kawakami whisper to a confederate; they carried her, not into the room with the sacking, but toward a secret chamber in the wall, which she had not perceived. If once they got her within Gordon might seek and search—

"Gordon!" she cried again. An answering shout and her lover came rushing up the flight, followed by his men. Barbara strove to reach him; she heard the crack of revolvers, felt a sharp pang in her breast and fainted.

"Barbara! Barbara! I saved her. And you, too, though it was touch and go at the last moment! The others have got them!"

She opened her eyes. She felt strangely weak and strangely satisfied. She was alone with Francis in his machine and they were whirling through the streets toward her studio.

"Barbara! Look up! You are better now, dear. You are safe, Barbara!"

She tried to answer him, but everything seemed unreal and the world was slipping away.

"Barbara! There is blood on your clothes. You are not hurt, Barbara?" The car stopped outside the studio. In sudden panic he snatched her in his arms and carried her within. He laid her down.

"Barbara! You are wounded!" She heard the panic in his voice. Her eyes opened and she smiled faintly at him. "Francis," she murmured, and he felt her hand grow cold in his.

And as her eyes closed he realized that they had accomplished their last task on earth together.

He knelt beside her, shaking, his head bowed on his arms.

Message No. 5

To the Business Men of Rushville

The prosperity of a city is in direct proportion to the local pride. Where local pride runs high, prosperity has a firm foothold. Such a town is a good place to live and do business in.

Paint helps to a remarkable degree in spreading an impression of prosperity throughout a community. It gives a fresh, new, inviting look wherever it is used. Municipal buildings, stores and homes feel its good effects. Growing business is bound to be one of the direct results of a liberal use of paint, not from any magic in the paint, but because of the pride which is stimulated.

Now Here's An Explanation of Why Weather Causes Depressed Spirits

ack of Sunshine is not the Thing That Puts Hoodoo on Temperament and Activities of a Whole Population, take Experts Word For It.

Folks have complained about the "weather" from time immemorial. There has been kind of a bazy impression sifting through from the prehistoric ages that cloudy skies and dreary days had a depressing effect on the human family as a rule.

But here's another example of where Adam and Eve have been handing us a "bum tip" and we have been acting on it through all the ages that have come and gone.

Take it from an expert in the United States public health service, —Senior Surgeon Charles E. Banks —this common belief of ours is a travesty on the truth. The senior surgeon says the lack of sunshine has no more to do with "the blue Mondays" and the other "gray days" of the week than the average negro in the south has to do with an election.

Listen to the plausible explanation the senior surgeon offers in the bulletin entitled "The Barometer and Health," just issued by the health department:

Every person capable of putting two and two together and obtaining the correct answer has been conscious of feeling out of sorts, as the printer would say, when the clouds hung low and the sun was obscured. A week of dull weather sets a whole community on edge and the mental, moral and physical components of man are, at its close, about fit for the scrap heap. Under such atmospheric conditions, when prolonged for a number of days, an Englishman admits that he feels "seedy" and the American confesses that he is feeling "mean," both adjectives relating to a state of mental and bodily dumps.

This situation is generally attributed to the lack of sunshine, for every human being retains the ancient beliefs in the potentiality of the Sun in its relation to his life and its well-being. He knows that it gives light and warmth and brings forth his crops from the fruitful earth, and rightly yields it a respect for its great and generally benign influence over mundane existence. It is true that we feel "bully" in sunshiny weather, but sunshine is the accompaniment of certain atmospheric conditions not wholly shown by the thermometer or the solarmeter. A few sunless days or hours are not sufficient, however, to put a boo-deo on the temperament and activities of a whole population; there is another important controlling agency but little understood, even if appreciated, and it exercises a much greater influence than the sun in a given space of time. If the sunlight were absolutely necessary to our up-keep nightwatchmen and laborers on the morning editions would be chronic invalids, and mine workers the most unhealthy people in existence. If sunlight were necessary to animal life all of the night prowlers would cease to exist.

The gaseous envelope of atmosphere air surrounding the earth is the medium in which we have to live and it bears the same relation to the human family as the waters of the globe to the order of fishes. The air and water are essential to the life as much a factor to man as the quality of water to the fish. This normal atmosphere air exerts on our bodies a definite dynamic force or physical pressure of 14.7 pounds on every square inch of our bodies, if we live at or near the sea level, and the higher up we go this atmospheric pressure diminishes until on the heights of the Rockies it is probably two pounds less. The normal pressure at sea level is indicated by the barometer as 30 (inches), and it decreases by an established scale as it ascends these mountain heights. Most persons know that ascents of mountainous peaks, thousands of feet above sea level results in marked physical distress, difficult breathing, general depression at the summits, and in extreme cases bleeding at the nose and even from the lungs due to this lessened atmospheric pressure. Just so it happens that when the barometer is "low" for a considerable period, say a drop from 30, the normal gauge, to 29 or below when stormy or dull weather ensues, we get the analogous effect imperceptibly, but in an appreciable degree; for it has happened that a definite measure of atmospheric pressure is released from our bodies and naturally there follows a dislocation of our normal balance. The average adult man sustains on every pleasant day an atmospheric pressure of about 14 tons at sea level, when the barometer reads at 30 and a drop of an inch or more, to 29 and below practically takes off half a ton or more of his load to which he is accustomed. Paradoxically, instead of feeling lighter and freer man feels its disturbing depressing effect on his tissues. He has to become adjusted to this alteration from normal tendency to one of unusual relaxation and while it is slow in its manifestations, as barometric changes are generally gradual, yet the effect in miniature is like going up to a great height on a mountain range. Of course this feeling is neither serious nor fatal, but the relaxed condition in unpleasant weather extending over a number of days makes us feel "out of sorts." While the spell is on we are in the doldrums and the situation is recognized as of enough importance by careful surgeons, who weigh every factor, to defer important operations, can be postponed, when these unfavorable barometric conditions prevail and the patient needs every ounce of vitality to pull through.

It is just as well to know these fundamental facts about the influences which affect our physical being so that we can estimate that "tired" or "good-for-nothing" feeling which accompanies a spell of dull weather; to know that it has a definite and transitory cause outside our bodies. It is really an explanation of the ups and downs of our healthy existence. Naturally there is no remedy to be prescribed. As Mark Twain said about the weather —we talk a lot about it but we never do anything to improve it.

FORMER STUDENT FAIRVIEW ACADEMY

Rev. Thomas M. Wiles, Who Died at Anderson, Native of Fayette County, Near Fairview.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PASTOR

The Rev. Thomas M. Wiles, a retired minister in the Christian church, who died at Anderson yesterday of Bright's disease, was a student in the old Fairview academy at Fairview when a young man and is well remembered by the older people of that community. He was a native of Fayette county, being born and reared near Fairview, and attained a common school education there. After being graduated from Fairview, he entered business, but soon forsook that for the ministry.

The Rev. Mr. Wiles was pastor of the Central Christian church at Anderson for five years about twenty years ago. He had charges at churches at Jeffersonville, Greensburg, Martinsville, Franklin, Milton, Franklin and was pastor of a number of smaller churches in rural communities.

He is survived by a widow and three children. The funeral will probably be held at Anderson Thursday, with burial there.

Attorney General Rules Pension Law Does Not Apply to Teachers With Only a Diploma.

WILL AFFECT 2,000 OR MORE

Richard M. Milburn, attorney-general, expresses his belief that many Indiana teachers will not benefit under the teachers' pension act, passed by the 1915 legislature.

W. W. Parsons, president of the Indiana State Normal school, at Terre Haute, has received numerous inquiries from graduates of his institution, who, under an old law, are permitted to teach in Indiana without further license than the diploma from the state school as to whether they would be allowed to come under the benefits of the teachers' pension act.

President Parsons replied in each case that these teachers would receive the benefits of the new law, but the attorney-general took issue with him and said, in his opinion, the 1915 law applies only to teachers that have received regular licenses to teach.

Attaches of the office of Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, said they believed the ruling would affect some 2,000 or more teachers throughout Indiana.

vate monopoly to conduct this part of the Postal Service—the highest rates and the poorest service among the nations.

"Second only to the letter in importance is the local telephone call. Perhaps it would be first of its cost permitted its use by all the people. In countries having postal telephones the rate averages about a cent a call, or half the letter rates, while in our cities the rates run from 5 to 10 cents a call. We rank highest but two among 31 nations in the rates paid.

"The flat or unlimited rate, in Christiania, Norway, is $21.44 a year as against Seattle, about the same population, $90 a year; Berlin, $43.20, as against Manhattan $205; London is $82.79, as against San Francisco, $180. It seems a duty to say that these telegraph and telephone rates are the scandal of public service rates the world over, and only to be compared with the express rates before the advent of the parcel post."

IS FULL OF DOPE ON POSTOFFICE

Representative Lewis of Maryland
Can Give all Kinds of Figures
on This Department

KIND OF HOBBY WITH HIM

Has Pet Idea of Postalization of the Telegraph and Telephone Predicting it Will Come

BY BURTON K STANDISH

Washington, Apr. 14.—Whenever any member of the House of Representatives wishes to know about postal affairs, wishes to bolster up an impending speech with few facts, and hasn't time to get in touch with the Post Office Department, he has always the alternative of asking Rep. David J. Lewis of Maryland. Lewis is a simple and sure remedy for ignorance concerning the post office if taken in time and in sufficient doses. He is as full of information regarding the mails as Rep. James R. Mann is regarding parliamentary precedents or Senator La Follette regarding the railroads.

Right off the bat he could tell you, if you wanted to know, how much it would cost you to send a dozen China eggs for your home in Bluefield to your aunt in Billings, Mont., and if you asked further, he'd tell you just how much profit the government made on the shipment and how much the railroad made.

Congressman Lewis is a great believer in the possibilities of the post office and his present pet idea is the postalization of the telephone and telegraph. Commenting on the advocacy of this move by Postmaster Burleson, he said the other day:

"Mr. Burleson's predecessors for 50 years have given like counsel. The principal countries of the world, the United States alone excepted, have already postalized these agencies. Why? Briefly, because the postoffice alone has the motive and the facilities to make rates low enough to render service to all the people. Before the parcel post we had the highest parcel rates. They are now among the lowest in the world. We still have the highest telegraph rates. They run from 25 cents to $1. Where the post conducts the telegraph they run from 10 cents to 24 cents for the longest distances.

"The result of our high rates is that we use the telegraph little. New Zealand with the 12-inch rate shows 9 telegraph per capita the United States only 1. But with the lowest letter rates we show the highest use, 101 letters per capita as against 93 for New Zealand. While our telegraph rates run from two to over four times as high as countries like Australia with distances as long and wages as high as our own, our toll or long distance rates are even more moderate. They run from three to seven times as high as the postal telephone rates of other countries.

"The average rate for 100 miles in nine countries of Europe is 20 cents as against 60 cents here; for 300 miles, 37 cents as against $1.80 here for 400 miles, 39 cents as against $2.40; for 500 miles, 46 cents as against $3; for 700 miles, 53 cents, as against $4.20.

"That is to say, for 100 miles we pay three times as much as they in Europe and for 700 miles, we pay eight times as much.

"It costs the American as much to ship his long-distance conversation over the wires as it costs him to ship his freight over the rails. The railroads get on an average 7 mills a mile for moving a ton of freight. The charge for carrying three-minute conversation a mile is 6 mills. Conversations weigh about a ton on the long distance wires.

"The effect of the rates is to reduce the traffic to a point as abnormally low as the rates are abnormally high. Combining telegrams and telephone messages we find that other countries use the wire from two to four times as much as we. Denmark shows 17 such messages per capita—we show only three. We rank first in the use of the letter, but thirteenth in the use of the wire. Moreover, our companies maintain but one telegraph office to every seven postoffices. The postal institutions maintain an average of two telegraph offices to every three post offices. This is the penalty our country pays for permitting a pri-

Elegance and Economy in WOOLTEX TAILORED COATS & SUITS

THE problem of being well dressed without extravagance is always present in the mind of the careful woman and she finds the way to secure refined and becoming apparel at a price that is well within the resources of her income.

Wooltex suits and coats provide the best possible answer to this important problem of correct dress. Always moderate in their prices, yet Wooltex garments are produced with a care and skill and thoroughness of manufacture, that is unequalled in other ready-to-wear garments.

Wooltex garments are always correct in style, conforming in the fullest degree to the style tendency, yet never extreme; always in modes that do not go quickly out of fashion; thus making them most economical to buy.

Considered for good style and elegance alone, the values of Wooltex garments are remarkable; when to this you add an exceptionally extended service, the unusual economy of buying Wooltex garments is overwhelming.

The coat illustrated, No. 1321, represents the refined character of all Wooltex garments, which are now shown in very broad assortments of both coats and suits, at a very interesting range of popular prices.
